About Us

The National Land Bank Network (NLBN) at the Center for Community Progress connects land bank leaders to the tools, networks, and resources they need to return vacant, abandoned, and deteriorated properties to productive use. As the first membership-based community of practice for the field of land banking, NLBN supports the over 300 land banks and land banking programs throughout the United States with in-person and online convening, research, technical assistance, and equity-focused education.

NLBN is a program of the Center for Community Progress, the only national nonprofit dedicated to tackling vacant properties and drives change by uncovering and disrupting the unjust, racist systems that perpetuate entrenched vacancy and property deterioration.
